

Latent Print Examiner

PAE is currently seeking a Latent Print Examiner based in Fort Gillem, GA
May be required to travel OCONUS (as needed)

Responsibilities include but are not limited to:

- Process IED evidence to develop latent prints using standard laboratory procedures. Processing methods include, but are not limited to, cyanoacrylate fuming, fluorescent dye stains, powders in suspension, ninhydrin and indanedione.
- Mix chemicals as required and control test them according to laboratory policy.
- Identify, label, and photograph latent prints on evidence.
- Photograph each latent print using proper photographic equipment and techniques.
- Analyze latent prints in Adobe Photoshop to determine suitability and submit to the Defense Forensic Biometric Agency (DFBA). This determination shall be in accordance with laboratory policy.
- Compare latent prints to known prints and make conclusions.
- Document all examination results/findings in the Weapons Technical Intelligence Exploitation Analysis Tool (WEAT) database.
- Annotate the case file documentation, detailing the processing techniques and the examination results.
- Perform administrative and technical reviews of reports for fellow examiners.
- Ensure proper chain of custody is maintained at all times.
- Maintain a clean laboratory and personal workspace environment, in accordance with laboratory procedures.

Required Qualifications:

- A minimum of a Bachelor's degree coupled with 2-4 years experience in the processing, recovery, visualizing/recording, and analyzing latent prints in a forensics laboratory; OR an Associate's degree coupled with 5-7 years related experience; OR a High School diploma coupled with 8-10 years related experience.
- Professional certification by the International Association of Identification (IAI) is highly desired.
- Proficiency utilizing AFIS, ABIS, and/or other National databases.
- Must be able to successfully pass all medical requirements for deployment.
- Must be able to successfully pass a skills assessment.
- Able to obtain and maintain a DoD Secret security clearance.

To apply:

https://pae.wd1.myworkdayjobs.com/en-US/PAE_Careers/job/US-GA-Forest-Park/Latent-Print-Examiner_R0022332-1